
PublicCompanies to NOT pass resolutions in writing

Posted by sky - 2008/05/28 02:08

Dear forumers,

Can anyone clarify the amendment made via Companies Act 2006(CA2006) on the matter of resolution? One of the changes indicates that public companies(even unquoted private-owned public companies) cannot pass resolutions in writing at all, even if their articles say that they can.

How shall the public companies go about complying the above?conduct meeting all the time?

asides the above issue, anywhere in CA2006 states a must for the shareholders of a public companies to consist of atleast ONE natural persons or can the shareholders be all non-natural persons.

Pls clarify n appreciate the helps:)

=====

Re:PublicCompanies to NOT pass resolutions in writing

Posted by samcha - 2009/11/24 19:08

Can you be more specific as to which amendment?

=====